GUATEMALA PRESIDENT EVICTED BY ARMY

Successes, Failures Mark Ike-Churchill Meetings, Is Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Churchill opened the last scheduled meeting of their Washington conference today with prospects of only partial agreement on the divisive Southeast Asian pact issue.

The two men met in the President's office shortly after 10 a. m. (EDT). White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said they were being joined by Foreign Secretary Eden, Secretary of State Dulles and staff advisors.

Meanwhile, House Speaker Martin (R-Mass.) and Senate GOP leader Knowland (Calif.) said congressional leaders received from Dulles in Eisenhower's presence this morning a report that made the Southeast Asian situation appear "more encouraging." Both said they were not speaking particularly about the Churchill-Eisenhower talks which Dulles discussed briefly with them.

Other sources said there had been a blend of successes and failures in the efforts by Eisenhower and Churchill to resolve differences between American and British policies.

Word was spread that a communiqué on the British-American talks might be issued immediately upon the end of the final scheduled session or a short time thereafter. Previously officials had indicated that the earliest release time possible was late this afternoon.

While the meetings have been conducted in the strictest secrecy, it is understood the President and the Prime Minister failed to reach any decisive agreement for quick action on creation of a Southeast Asian alliance against Communist aggression. The United States has been urging a definite timetable. Britain has opposed action so long as Indochina peace negotiations are pending.

Had Agreed On EDC

At the same time there was reason to believe Eisenhower and Churchill had agreed to press for prompt French ratification of the European Defense Community Treaty, under which West Germany would be armed.

It was also understood that they had agreed that no effort is too great which promises constructive results of lifting from the world the dangers of an atomic war.

Officials said today's program was subject to change should the President and Prime Minister decide they needed more time to work on the problems which have occupied their attention almost constantly since Churchill arrived here Friday morning. This meant that issuance of a final communiqué could go over until tomorrow.

But the program called for

Truman's Condition Reported Improving

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman was reported somewhat better today after passing through a critical phase in his post-operation convalescence.

His condition, however, remained serious. A hospital spokesman said the 70-year-old former President went through the critical stage Saturday night but showed improvement yesterday and "had a satisfactory day."

He underwent surgery eight days ago for removal of his gall bladder and appendix.

Robert Adams, acting administrator at Research Hospital, said Truman's complications over the weekend were secondary and not the direct result of the emergency operation.

Adams said his recovery had been hampered by secondary infections and hypersensitivity to drugs needed in the treatment.

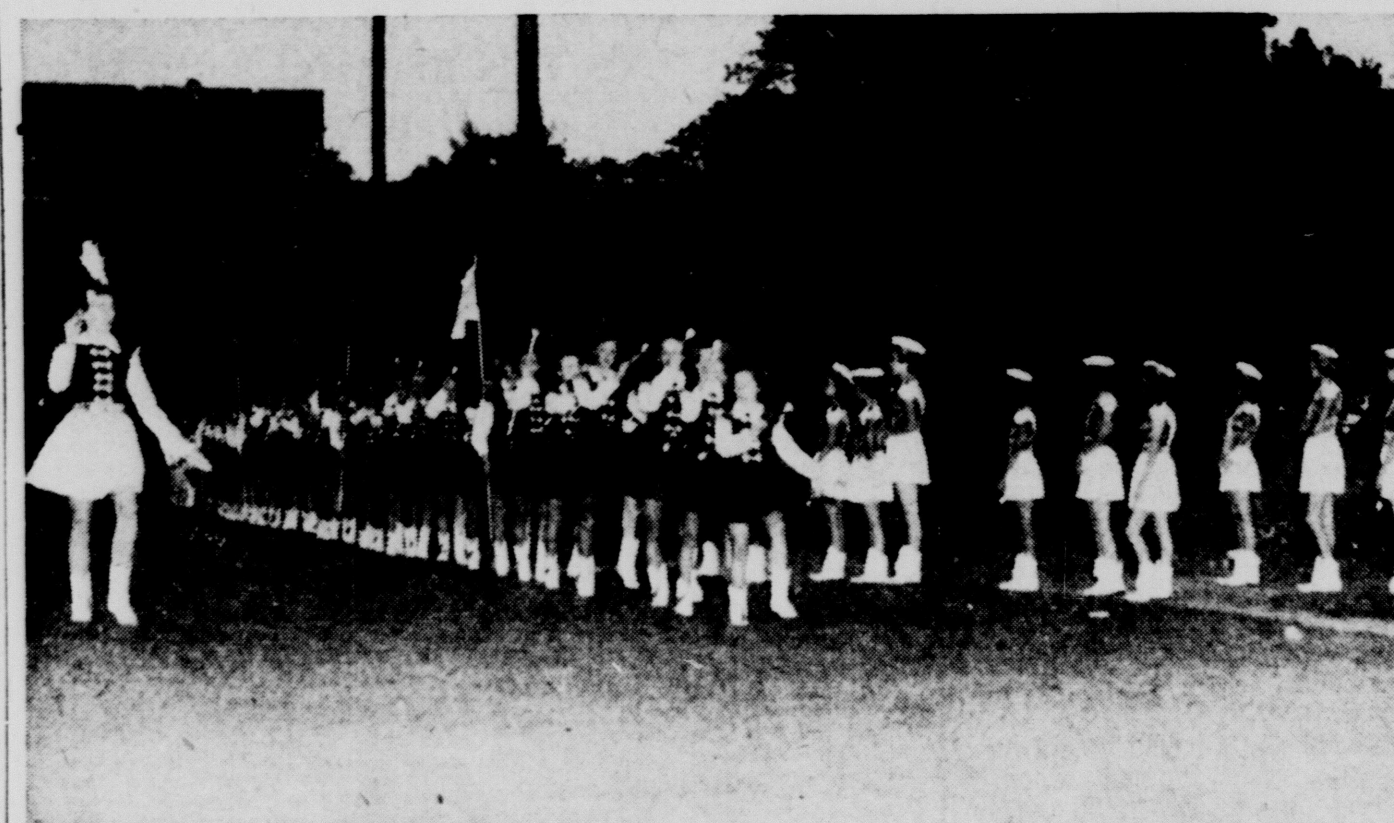

Several specialists were called into the case to assist Truman's personal physician, Dr. Wallace Graham, and two other doctors.

Adams said that Truman continued to show remarkable spirit.

District Communities Get New Ministers

Appointments of Methodist ministers for this area were announced at the 16th annual Northeast Ohio Methodist Conference which concluded Sunday at Lakeside with an ordination service.

Rev. Carl Asmus, former pastor of the Salem Church, who has been minister of the East Palestine Church for several years, will go to Minerva, succeeding Rev. Karl K. Wilson who was appointed to Canton Duerber Ave. Church. Rev. Herbert Massey of East Liverpool Orchard Church will go to East Palestine.

The East Fairfield Church is the appointment for Rev. George Bailey, who has been pastor of the Fosterville Church at East Liverpool.

Rev. R. D. Cunningham, who leaves Leetonia for Harmony, will be succeeded by Rev. R. F. Ferguson from Richmond. Rev. Robert Harmon from East Rochester will go to the Rogers church, where Rev. G. E. Chalfant has been pastor.

John Dusenberry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Dusenberry of Winona, who has completed study for the ministry at Boston University, will assume the pastorate of the Brewster Methodist Church.

Work Resumed At Vitrified Products

LISBON — Seventy-five shop workers and loaders at the American Vitrified Products Co. returned to work this morning after a 26-day shutdown which included a two-week vacation plus layoff.

Now a specialty company, the plant has changed over from the manufacture of hot tops to sewer pipe and flues, Clayton Hunter, superintendent, said.

The conversion was made due to the slow down in orders from steel mills for hot tops, Hunter said.

He said the rest of the 90-member force will return to work later this week.

The men went on a two-week vacation June 2, but were notified later that operations would not resume as scheduled due to slack business conditions.

Hunter called the changeover "healthy for the plant and workers."

BATON CONTEST—The first annual Salem open baton twirling and strutting contest was held at Reilly Stadium Sunday with well over 300 entrants. Proceeds went to the Centennial Park basketball court fund.

Six Salem Girls, Sylvettes Win Honors In Baton Contest

Entrants from Canada, Louisiana, Michigan, West Virginia, New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio participated in the open baton twirling and strutting contest at Reilly Stadium Sunday, termed "highly successful" by contest officials.

Proceeds are earmarked for the Centennial Park basketball court fund.

Watched by a large crowd, contests were held in the beginning class, open twirling, duet and ensemble twirling, two-baton twirling, and drill team competition. Well over 300 boys and girls competed.

The highlight of the event was the show staged by the champion Grove City "Plaidettes," who combined dancing and singing with their routine of twirling and precision marching.

They were awarded the biggest trophy of the dozens given out during the day.

Among the local entries, Suzanne White and Dianne Wright received trophies for placing second in their respective age groups in open twirling.

Carolyn Lewis, who tied for first with two other girls in her classification, lost out in the twirl-off and was awarded a third place medal.

Patty Wisler of Salem was given a fifth place medal, and the Sylvettes were awarded third place honors in drill team competition.

Tara Donahy and Judy Ziegler, four-year old mascots of the Sylvettes, tied for second place in the beginners twirling class of the six-years-and-under group.

Miss Martha Zimmerman of Salem, Miss Ohio of 1953, led the downtown parade which preceded the contests.

The American Legion band and color guard, the Sylvettes and several contest entrants marched.

The contest was under the direction of Tony Fortunata and Vic Faber, both former national baton champions.

Officials hope to make this an annual affair for the benefit of some local worthy fund.

E. Palestine Girl Wins In Driver Road-ee

Two local high school students won top honors in the state finals of the teen-age drivers' road-ee at Lancaster Saturday.

Miss Mary Lou McGown, RD 1, East Palestine, won first place in the state competition and Franklin Gall, RD 1, East Rochester, took third.

Miss McGown and Gall placed one-two in the county eliminations held at Lisbon last month.

By scoring 559 out of a total of 625 possible points, Miss McGown bested 97 other hopefuls from 62 Ohio communities. The finalists were chosen from some 2,500 youthful drivers who previously competed in local contests.

She won the honor of participating in the national road-ee in Washington next month and will receive a $200 grant-in-aid college scholarship. Gall, who scored 549 points, will receive a $50 scholarship.

The contest was jointly sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Ohio Trucking Association.

In this county, the Jaycees co-sponsored the event with the Columbiana County Automobile Association with A. P. Morris and Bob Campbell, managers of the Salem and East Liverpool AAAs, respectively, serving as the executive committee.

Matt Melitschka served as Salem JC general chairman. The County chairman was Jim Nesbitt, driving instructor of East Palestine High School. Others on the Salem Committee were Dick Beltz and William Lewis.

Others who helped were all county driving instructors and State Highway Patrolman Norman Kanagy.

Rebels Refuse To Recognize New Regime

Anti-Red Forces Are Reported 70 Miles From Capital

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP) — The anti-Communist rebel radio said today "we do not recognize the new Guatemalan government of Col. Carlos Enrique Diaz."

It warned insurgent war planes will launch a "general attack on military targets in Guatemala City if the rebel conditions for peace are not met."

The clandestine insurgent radio heard here said Col. Diaz would have until 8 a.m. (CST) to reply. But the rebel radio was still repeating the warning at 8:20 a.m. The Guatemalan government radio was broadcasting music at 8:20 a.m.

Fight System, Not Man

The rebels declared "we fight a system, not a man and said the same seven conditions "for peace and order which they broadcast last Saturday still stand."

The rebels Saturday urged army to form a military junta, arrest Jacobo Arbenz Guzman, then president, and "all other Communists and join the rebels in forming a new government. Arbenz quit last night and Diaz took over as head of a ruling junta.

The insurgent warnings this morning said if their conditions are not met:

"Our air force has its precise instructions for today:

"1. A general attack on all military bases in Guatemala City and

"2. A concentrated attack on one in particular. (This target was not identified.)

Rebels Radio Threat

The "Liberation radio called on Col. Diaz to 'let us know or we will hit them (the targets) one by one until they are all destroyed. The rebels appealed to the Guatemalan army not to obey the new chief.

"The army should not let itself be deceived, the broadcast said. "We fight a system, not a man. Our struggle is against communism until it is thoroughly uprooted from our soil.

Diaz in a broadcast pledged the army to continue the war against the invading exiles led by Col. Carlos Castillo Armas, but the switch in government appeared to signal the end of the Communists' strong influence on the regime Arbenz had led. Army leaders are known to have become increasingly opposed recently to the Reds'

OTTUMWA, Iowa — Nearing the end of its disastrous plunge through central Iowa, the Des Moines River today moved uneventfully toward the Mississippi River after passing its final crisis.

The Des Moines was defeated here as it was last Thursday when a record crest mounted at Des Moines. The river crested here early today near the expected 16.3-foot mark, over seven feet above flood stage but far below the 20.24 record flood seven years ago.

Ottumwa's confidence in being able to hold out the flood waters was summed up today by one official who said, "We're still high and dry."

Elsewhere across northern and central Iowa, where Army engineers estimated the last week's floods caused 15 million dollars damage, rivers were slowly turning to bankful and the grim, dirty clean-up job began.

By Victor Riesel

At approximately 10 p.m. on the night of June 11, in a hall crowded with some of the toughest characters this side of a Mickey Spillane whodunit, military intelligence agents discovered what they believe to be a systematic effort to shut down or disable one of the Army's most vital trans-world shipping points.

Victor Riesel

There were in that hall at 301 Schermerhorn St., not far from the key global military supply docks at the Brooklyn Port of Embarkation, men who had themselves been close to, or had close relatives in, Murder, Inc.

There were in that hall men who had praised that champion of the Soviets and that admirer of Ho Chi Minh and Mao Tse-tung — namely Harry Bridges. Two men in that hall had recently returned from a triumphant personal tour of Harry Bridges' pro-Communist union affiliates — which has opened their sovietizing hearts and pocketbooks in sympathy with mob-run Eastern longshoremen's locals.

THE MILITARY intelligence agents were disturbed. It is their duty to see that nothing interferes with the operation of the big port of embarkation from which flows defense material — guns and tanks and aircraft parts — to our friends in taut Central and South America, to Indochina and to our European bases.

Yet at about 10 o'clock one overheard a character identified as "Tony" — full name and activities very well known to our security people — talking to a group of longshoremen who load military cargo at the embarkation port.

"Tony S." approached these army base dockworkers and asked: Will you go along with us if we pull a strike at the Army docks? . . . They said: Hell, we can't strike. We're civil service now. We've been civil service since the winter strike. We'd get fired.

And "Tony" replied, Hell, anything can happen to men. They can report in sick. Just one phone call does it. And who'll know the difference? That, at least, would slow down the military shipping depot.

Well, maybe, answered the men, for "Tony S." is tough and he has an "in" with some of the boys who were running this indecent longshoremen's union meeting of Local 327-1, influenced by that patron of the iron whim and muscle called Tough Tony Anas, taslo.

TEMPERS AND CIGARETTE smoke and voices from the platform filled the tight little hall. Up front, the outfit's national leader, Capt. William Bradley, boasted that they'd done it. They'd beaten the new AFL union. And they were going to move forward.

Then the big fellow sat down to listen to nominations for office in this union — into which have been merged five others, giving it complete control of the Brooklyn section of the vast Port of New York.

And giving it, too, a jumping-off point from which to move in on all other ports along the Atlantic, the Gulf, the Great Lakes and the Pacific, too.

Among the nominations to lead the local was the favorite lad of Tough Tony, the fellow by name of Anthony Implazzo. This is same fellow who went out to San Francisco exactly a month ago and said on the platform of one of Harry Bridges' longshoremen's locals there that if the east coast had the same type of leadership they had on the Pacific, it wouldn't have the trouble it has today.

Then Implazzo accepted money from those sovietizers for activity back home.

NOW BACK to the meeting. Also nominated for office — as business agent — was one Thomas DiBello, who was Implazzo's fellow-traveler to the coast.

DiBello and Implazzo went from San Francisco to Seattle, with the way paved by Harry Bridges and his locals' treasuries.

A few days after their nomination, these men were elected to lead the big local which includes workers on the Army docks — piers of interest to every mother and dad who have, or may soon have, a boy at a foreign base.

We might at least get from these successful candidates, when they are inducted June 26, a statement denouncing the policies of Harry Bridges' pro-Russian, pro-Mao-Tse-tung, pro-Ho Chi Minh locals which gave them money on the West Coast. And they might go to the Army and pledge uninterrupted shipping.

Free Bargaining Restored

There is the possibility of a steel strike if negotiations between United Steel Workers and United States Steel Corp. fail.

But it is the impression among observers of the negotiations that there is an equally good possibility of a settlement between the union and Big Steel this year.

Free bargaining has been restored to America's basic industry. Negotiators no longer must keep their eyes glued on Washington to see what the federal government will let them decide.

The Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service is observing the current negotiations, which may set the pattern for negotiations throughout the steel industry. But it has not intervened. It has no intention of intervening.

The bargainers are on their own. The contract they will make, if they are successful, will represent their judgment of what is feasible. If they fail to make a contract and a work stoppage ensues, that too will represent their judgment. Washington has quit being the third party in every labor-management negotiation.

Two years ago, the properties of the steel industry were seized by presidential edict to force management to accept the government's dictated terms for a contract. This revolutionary concept of federal power was set aside by a historic decision of the Supreme Court. When the Supreme Court did this, however, United Steel Workers showed their displeasure with the court by ordering a strike that lasted for 53 days.

The strike finally was settled on terms that could have been agreed on before it started, if the federal government had not intervened.

Speaking The Same Language

Perhaps it would be proper to think about personal relations in connection with the international relations now being discussed between United States officials and their British counterparts.

One of the things that has caused Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Minister Eden to need to talk with President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles is irritating criticism.

Dulles has said some things about Britain which have caused Eden to say some things about the United States which could drive a wedge between the two governments.

Since some of these things stem from misunderstanding about issues being aggravated by the Kremlin for the express purpose of dividing the English-speaking world, it is time for a showdown.

In personal relations, tongues are curbed for the sake of harmony. Restraint is applied when it would be more natural to lash out at everything within range. Many things are left unsaid out of consideration for others.

Is it unreasonable to suppose that if some of the dignitaries responsible for keeping international relations on an even keel were to apply what they know about keeping personal relations that way there would be less misunderstanding?

Men with responsibilities as heavy as those borne by President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Churchill never should have to patch up tiffs set off by associates who talk first and think afterward.

The Young Men Fly West

The logic of selecting Colorado Springs as the site for the Air Force Academy is so powerful it cannot be questioned.

West Point was chosen as the site for the U.S. Military Academy because it had been associated with the military defense of the colonies during the Revolutionary War. When the need for a military school was acknowledged after the Revolutionary War, George Washington recommended that it be located on the historic point of ground which had been the key to the defense of the Hudson River Valley and therefore to the defense of the new republic.

Annapolis was chosen as the site of the U.S. Naval Academy for similar reasons. George Washington had surrendered his commission there, at the end of his military career. It was a historic site which had been associated with naval affairs since the 17th century. When the need for a naval school was acknowledged Annapolis was an automatic choice.

The site chosen for an aviation school is closely associated with the nature of aviation. Americans now fly from the Atlantic to the Pacific in less time than it takes to reach West Point from New York City. They fly to Europe, Asia, South America and the Arctic as easily as they formerly crossed the boundaries of states.

Colorado Springs is the center of aviation's worldwide range.

It now is to become the capital of aviation training.

Miracle Man

By GEORGE H. GERARD

Viet Nam Puts Faith In Diem

A widely traveled foreign affairs specialist, George H. Gerard has been an on-the-spot observer at a score of recent international conferences. Besides working as correspondent and editor for American wire services and radio stations, he has tracked international problems closely enough to serve as special correspondent for magazines and newspapers in both Europe and South America.

PARIS
While the big powers parceled out its future at Geneva, battered and divided Viet Nam today prepared for its "last chance" stand against the Communists under the leadership of a new premier dubbed by his supporters "The Miracle Man."

Barely noticed in the shadow of France - China talks and the conferences on how his nation might be shared with the Vietnamese rebels, Ngo Dinh Diem was planning the greatest reforms in Viet Nam history. His appointment itself was regarded by official French circles as "tantamount to a revolution."

"This is our last chance," Diem said before leaving Paris for conferences on the Riviera with Viet Nam emperor Bao Dai en route to his homeland. For our own sake and for the sake of the entire free world.

Whether this "chance" was more than illusion, Vietnamese here and at the Geneva Conferences wondered as French Premier Mendes-France conferred with Red China's premier Chou En-lai on ending the war in Indochina. The Vietnamese fear that Mendes - France's commitment to seek a quick armistice may mean an Asiatic "Munich" for the free world and partition, leading the eventual Communist conquest, for Viet Nam.

DIEM FREELY conceded that desperation marked his nation's military and political situation but he said he was prepared to take unprecedented and far - reaching measures to save Viet Nam from collapsing under the Communist onslaught.

His chief task, Diem said, will be to convince his people they are truly "free." This alone, he declared, might be enough to defeat the Communist threat.

Vietnamese circles here describe Diem, who is known as "The Incorruptible" and who all his life has fought for Viet Nam's "true and complete national independence," as close to a legend in his country. They call him the only anti - Communist leader capable of arousing the enthusiasm of the Vietnamese people and stiffening the morale of the flagging Vietnamese troops.

"It may be that nothing short of a miracle can save our country," said one of the new premier's admirers, "but if any one man can accomplish this miracle, Diem is the man who can do it."

Since his appointment last week to succeed Prince Bao Loc, a cousin of Emperor Bao Dai, the new premier has clearly marked the course he plots for Viet Nam. Leaders of what is considered the first truly popular government in Viet Nam's history, he said he has scheduled a complete new roster of ministers, a program of austerity and social reform, and anti-Communist mobilization.

ALMOST AT ONCE after his appointment, Diem registered his intention to exert practical leadership by summoning for consultation the chief Viet Nam delegate to the Geneva meeting trying to find a formula for regrouping the warring forces.

Simple Yet Puzzling

An acquaintance said a few days ago, "I've been studying the zipper for years, but I still don't have the vaguest idea how it works."

Practically all of us could agree with that statement.

The zipper is reminiscent of that song of a few years ago, in which you "push the middle valve down and the music goes round and round and it comes out here." Nobody knew why, it just did.

That's the way it is with zippers. You zip them and they zip - usually.

Once in a while when you zip them they don't. You then find the girdle, if you are a woman, taking a bite out of you, or, if you are a man, your trousers are taking a bite out of you. It is not pleasant, this being bitten by an inanimate object.

These are the times when unkind things are said about the invention of Dr. Gideon Sundback, who died a few days ago in Meadville, Pa. But all in all, we must admit Dr. Sundback did a good job on the zipper. Pause for a moment to consider how many times a day you give one a zip without even thinking about it. On your undergarments, on your dress or trousers, on your coat or jacket, on your luggage.

The day of the frontier is supposed to have been long gone in the United States but Dr. Sundback blazed his own frontier.

It is typical of our civilization that we abound in so many gadgets which we do not fully comprehend. For instance, how many drivers understand all of the principles of the internal combustion engine, or of the differential?

For that matter, how many of our physicists know all the formulae of the A and H bombs?

Diem said in the interview that Viet Nam's present plight was a result of France's stubborn refusal to heed the native "will for independence." While legal recognition had been given to Viet Nam's national independence under the treaty of June 4, drastic political and military reforms are urgently needed to make independence a tangible reality for the average Vietnamese," he declared.

"Only after that has been done," he added, "will the Vietnamese people feel that the war against the Vietnamese is their war, because they will have realized that they are free, and that this freedom is threatened by the Communists and their Red Chinese and Soviet allies."

The prime minister said he did not feel that the fulfillment of his plan counters continued Vietnamese membership in the French union. Some of Diem's followers have hinted, however, that it may be necessary to amend the agreements on grounds that the French still retain too many key positions in Viet Nam's political and economic life, and that too many trappings of the old colonial rule survive in the country's every-day life.

This "confusion," according to Diem, has been Viet Nam's chief weakness and the most effective weapon of Communist propaganda in Indochina.

"Take this weapon away from the Communists," he said, "and they will no longer be able to win the people of Asia over to their side by posting as champions of independence."

THE NEW prime minister also emphasized his opinion that the best way to mobilize Viet Nam is to build up "a really strong and truly national Vietnamese army" instead of incorporating Vietnamese troops into the French army, as has been the practice hitherto.

His reform program could not succeed, he prime minister insisted, unless France is prepared to continue - and if necessary to increase - its military effort in Indochina while Viet Nam built up its own forces.

The Vietnamese prime minister also made the following points: 1. Vietnamese troops should be organized into a full-fledged national army. The pattern of Korea would then be followed, with the native forces gradually taking over wider sections of the front.

2. The two armies should be appointed by common agreement.

3. The prime minister is definitely opposed to the internationalization of the Indochina conflict - unless it became clear that there was no other way to prevent a Communist conquest.

4. By building a truly independent Viet Nam it will be possible to bring about the eventual collapse of the Vietnamese. The Communist organization, he predicted, will begin to disintegrate as soon as its leaders can no longer claim to be the sole champions of Vietnamese national independence.

Diem comes to power after decades as a leading figure in Indochina. Once before, in 1944, he refused the leadership of his home state of Annam because he opposed a Japanese protectorate then just as he shuns French domination now. As far back as 1947 he was considered the most important pro-French nationalist in Indochina. While considered the leader of 2,000,000 Viet Nam Catholics, he takes the "last chance" without any solid political organization of his own.

A Question Of Ethics

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

In a free society, government is an instrument of the people to perform such tasks as they choose to do in common. Under our Constitution, the federal government is permitted to perform limited duties, but all rights are stipulated as belonging to the States and the people thereof. The federal government may not lawfully expand its authority or the tasks which it is designated to undertake. A constitutional amendment may increase the federal responsibility, but such an amendment can only be passed by the consent of the States.

In a word, the American Constitution recognizes the peril to the people in a tautly centralized government.

WHILE THE TERM, police state, was unknown to the Founding Fathers, the concept was clear to them and is duly described in the Declaration of Independence in the following clauses in which is stated the attitude of George III to the rights of the people in the American Colonies:

"He has obstructed the administration of justice, by refusing his assent to laws for establishing judiciary powers.

"He has made judges dependent on his will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.

"He has erected a multitude of new offices, and sent hither swarms of officers to harass our people and eat out their substance.

"He has affected to render the military independent of, and superior to, the civil power."

In the recent McCarthy - Stevens hearings the ethical question of monitored telephone calls arose. It was admitted that such telephone calls were illegal and it took the committee weeks to have these calls admitted in evidence by consent of the parties concerned.

THE MORALS of the issue are more important than the legalities. The assumption must be that an American citizen is free to address an official of his government without fear or damage. The Right of Petition is stipulated in the first amendment to the Constitution, and while this right relates to a redress of grievances, the nature of the grievances is not stated.

The telephone had not been invented when the Constitution was signed and correspondence was written by quill pens. With the widespread use of the telephone, citizens may speak to their official - by means of this instrument.

Along with the telephone have come a number of devices for placing an unknown, unannounced witness to a conversation, in which instance only one of the parties is cognizant of the presence of the witness. It is also possible to tap the telephone wires by mechanical devices, in which instance neither of the parties to the conversation may know that a witness is present.

IT IS ALSO possible to record a telephone conversation for permanent reference. This is illegal unless a beep is provided which is sounded at regular intervals so that both parties may know that they are being monitored. No distinction can be made in ethics or in law between the use of a mechanical device or a human being to monitor telephone calls.

What such a recording means is that the casual word, spoken without caution, may be recalled months or years later when the party who did not monitor the call may not remember that it ever took place.

Now that the hearings are over, I can cite this example: John Adams, counsel to the secretary of the Army, who did not monitor his calls to me, says that he spoke to me on February 5, 12, and 16. I only recall that he telephoned to me on February 16 but must assume that he made the other calls because he said so.

HIS MEMORY is apparently as poor as mine because what he said he spoke to me about on February 5, he actually spoke about on February 16. Had that call been monitored, the last minute of it would have made us both appear to be ridiculous because the language was not of the very best, both of us ending on a bantering note.

As long as government officials insist upon committing an illegal act, citizen - will be justified in refusing to talk to them by telephone. I certainly shall avoid such risk in the future.

In the police state, the monitored telephone is a normal instrument for the control of the people by their officials. The procedure should be forbidden by act of Congress.

Name-Dropping

By TRUMAN TWILL

You don't run across many name - droppers outside the big cities, as far as names of notable personalities are concerned.

I know some people who know some two big - league baseball players, and Calvin Coolidge once said, "Hawoow ja dew" to me when I was whisked through the White House in a covey of tourists. But my acquaintance with celebrities and with people who are acquainted with celebrities is limited.

Outside big cities, you are more likely to be impressed with the number of people who seem to have been everywhere than with the number who profess to know everybody worth knowing.

When I was in Paris . . . This amusing little man came up to me in San Francisco . . . There is a darling place in Miami . . . This Swedish ski instructor at Sun Valley . . . You can have Hongkong, I'll take Amsterdam . . .

That kind of name-dropping is what you have to deal with among people where nobody is anybody who hasn't traveled halfway around the world. Istanbul is more likely to crop out in a casual conversation than the name of the nearest city big enough to have its own mayor and financial troubles.

Actually, no one needs to feel at a disadvantage about name-dropping, either in the case of celebrated personages or celebrated places. Anyone can master the trick. "The last time I saw Paris," doesn't need to refer to Paris, France. It could mean Paris, Kentucky.

"Tom Dewey said to me that last time I saw him" could just as easily mean the Tom Dewey who sweeps up the clutter in the bus station. As far as that is concerned, there was a celebrity named Bobo Newsom long before there was a celebrity named Bobo Rockefeller - and there was a family that used to live next door that had a dog named Bobo. Take your pick.

The only reason for name-dropping is to impress the listener with the breadth and scope of your acquaintanceship and travels. If it helps you to say there is a flower stall near the Place Vendome where Bidault always bought a boutonniere, go ahead and say it. For all you know, it might be true. You've never been in Paris.

If it pleases you to quote Herb Brownell on a point of law without making it clear that the Herb Brownell you are quoting is a barroom hair - splitter in Sandy's Place, there is no law against it.

I have a dozen names I drop all the time. "Winston" is a cat that used to live next door. "Ike" is a gentleman of color who used to do odd jobs around a store where I worked. "Ava" is purely imaginary. So is "Marilyn." Matter of fact, I used to quote "Clara" and "Norma," instead.

Is it my fault if "Foster" sounds like an authority on international relations and "Beetle" sounds like Walter Bedell Smith's nickname? A fellow who needs name - drop must take his names where he finds them. Like the time I was in Rome and remembered to do as the Romans do. It could have been Rome, Ga., Ill., Ind., Kan., Ky., Miss., or Mo. It even could have been Rome, Italy.

And Benito - remember him - could have been a bum in any language. Matter of fact, he was.

Thoughts For Today

But if there be no interpreter, let him keep silence in the church; and let him speak to himself, and to God. - I. Cor. 14:28.

No man can hinder your private addresses to God; every man can build a chapel in his breast, himself the priest, his heart the sacrifice, and the earth he treads on the altar. - Taylor.

Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

When A Smoker Needs A Friend

Nobody, and this includes the tobacco interests, wants to brush off scientific reports indicating that cigarettes cause, or contribute, to, death from the most awesome of diseases. The cigarette companies have for the past few years been conducting exhaustive research into removing dangerous ingredients. Nevertheless a heavy kicking around. That smoking to excess is bad is no new discovery. We can't remember a time when anybody said otherwise. But the finding that between the age of 50 and 70 a man's life is shortened by cigarettes could also be applied to double martinis, dog-wagon hamburgers, stud poker, Welsh rarebits, soft-shell crabs on toast, too much beer and too many trips to the icebox for midnight snacks.

It could probably be shown that college professors who make exhaustive investigations into the damaging effects of cigarette smoking die earlier than professors who don't. We have heard reports that "Open the window and let some of this smoke out!" is a frequent cry in laboratories where the experts are hard at work. A careful preparation of charts can show many things in any given hunt, and it might be shown that men who wear suspenders outlive men who wear belts and that between the ages of 45 and 65, men who worry over baseball boxscores crack up faster than golf enthusiasts.

While there is no proof the fellow who pours catsup all over the restaurant pork chop dies before the man who uses a dash or two, the restaurant owner who watches them deplete his catsup supply expires sooner than either, research might prove.

Dr. E. Cuyler Hammond and Dr. Daniel Horne, who made the finding on cigarettes, reported that the pipe and cigar smokers were in relatively no danger. (The pipe smoker is so busy keeping the pipe lit he is made more physically fit through sheer exercise. And the cigar addict's life is lengthened by the fact that, unlike the cigarette smoker, he doesn't have to worry so often over whether he put the butt out in the TV room area who burned the hole in the mahogany table.)

Not that we are belittling the report. It is a serious matter, and the cigarette producers realize it as much as the scientists.

There will be a solution. A safe cigarette is coming. But the thing to remember is that "Nothing succeeds like EXCESS" is a great American misconception. It is hard to produce anything which shouldn't be taken with reasonable moderation. (This goes, too, for charts and tables.)

Our forefathers had faults but they never called the henhouse a splitlevel country home.

The bills for Fathers' Day are beginning to reach the old man and he is hatter at the moment than when the first gift came marked "collect."

This is the season when many a scientist and engineer looks pretty bad as he tries to untangle the folding lawn furniture.

Remember away back when almost any war threat could be put down through one gunboat and 50 marines?

FIVE YEARS AGO - More than 1900 Deming Company employees and their families enjoyed an outing at Meyers Lake, Canton. Contests and dancing provided entertainment.

410 Persons Trapped By Texas Flood

LANGTRY, Tex., June 28 (AP) — Unconfirmed but reliable reports of new cloudbursts sent helicopters into the air despite severe flying weather as work began to free several hundred persons trapped by floods in this Mexican-U.S. border area.

An estimated 410 persons—150 on the Southern Pacific Railroad's Sunset Limited—were trapped. About 116 train passengers were taken off last night.

Maj. William Hughes, in charge of one group of the 14 helicopters, said he had reports he believed were accurate that from 8 to 10 inches of rain had fallen overnight in the drainage area above this tiny, famous town, and above Del Rio, 60 miles south, Laughlin Air Force Base at Del Rio is the operations base for the helicopters.

Maj. Hughes said there was danger higher water in Devil's River, between Del Rio on the south and Langtry and Comstock to the north might cut off Comstock.

The rescued train riders have been flown from Langtry to Comstock and have taken buses from there to Del Rio. If Comstock is cut off, it means longer, time-consuming trips for the helicopters.

Maj. Hughes said Devil's River already was higher than he ever had seen it.

He said the aircraft took off in a rain and into a low overcast this morning, despite working until 10 p.m. CST last night.

Lost 40 Hours In Wilderness, 5-Year-Old Girl Found Safe

MARKLEVILLE, Calif. (AP)—Little Kathy Paxton, who survived more than 40 hours without food or shelter in the High Sierra wilderness with no more serious consequences than a couple of bumps, is going back to Woods Lake to finish her vacation today.

The red-clad 5-year-old was located up the granite cliffs 1 1/2 miles from Woods Lake yesterday by Alvin Van Dell, 30, a timber cruiser. He joined the search "because I knew the country around there."

Van Dell and a friend, Louis Avery, started to work the high country because they thought others among the 500 looking for Kathy had thoroughly worked lower lands. Woods Lake is at the 8,500-foot elevation near Kit Carson Pass on the ridge of the High Sierra.

They found Kathy's footprints—but lost them. After circling fruitlessly, Van Dell called, "Lou, Lou" to Avery.

But it was Kathy who answered. "Why don't you call me?" she piped from a nearby ledge. She had been sleeping in a crevice when Van Dell called from only a few feet away.

Hardly daring to believe it was she, the tall lumberman asked: "Are you Kathy?"

"Yes," she replied with a tiny smile, "and I'm tired."

So Van Dell carried her, chattering about her experiences all the way, half a mile back to a road where a California highway patrol car was waiting with her stepfather, Stewart Crandall of Cupertino.

She was rushed to search headquarters, where a doctor from Stead Air Force Base near Reno was waiting. Aside from a bruised eye and a chipped tooth suffered in a fall, plus not having eaten for more than a day and a half, Kathy was declared all right.

But to make sure, an Air Force ambulance took her and her mother to Carson City, Nev., for a more thorough check. Kathy smiled and waved at everyone, and only cried when she learned that the ambulance wasn't to take her back to the camp at Woods Lake.

After it was all over, Mrs. Crandall said:

"If that's what she wants, to go back to the camp, we'll do it. Perhaps the fun there will make her forget the happening. But it'll not make me forget. I feel like 93 instead of 33."

Then she added, "And I'll never forget those wonderful men who hunted and hunted almost without rest while Kathy was lost. I'm just grateful to everyone and everything."

Kathy disappeared Friday evening. She said she drank water from a hole but had nothing to eat.

"At night I lay down on some pine needles," she said. "It was awfully cold."

It was — 34 degrees each night. Proudly, she added: "I was never scared."

Rebels

strong influence on the government.

The ouster of the 41-year-old Arbenz followed reports of a big rebel victory at Zacapa, key railroad center 75 miles northeast of the capital. Army forces, particularly their artillery, were reported shattered there.

News of the army reverses was followed by a rising tide of popular support for the rebels, whose "Radio Liberation" had called Saturday for the armed forces to revolt, jail Arbenz and form a military junta to negotiate a ceasefire.

With the rebels reported last night some 70 miles from the capital and moving on it, the battle for Guatemala was expected here to end within 48 hours. The Communists, backed by hastily armed and trained labor groups, were expected to try to keep up the fight however.

Diplomats in Washington speculated that the army takeover was a maneuver to give the military a chance to negotiate the best terms it could from Castillo Armas and his rebel forces. In Tegucigalpa, capital of neighboring Honduras, U.S. Ambassador Whiting Willauer said the change looked to him like "a maneuver to get themselves into a position where it will not be an unconditional surrender."

(Luis Coronado, secretary general of the rebel provisional government proclaimed by Castillo Armas, said in Tegucigalpa that the rebel fight would continue "with redoubled impetus unless the resignation of Arbenz means the acceptance of our ultimatum and the turning over of the government to insurgent leader Castillo Armas.")

Although the military operations appeared rapidly drawing to an end, foreign observers here predicted there would be considerable shooting and resistance before the Communists are cleaned out.

These observers said that with an end to air raids and accompanying blackouts, there would be less chance of wild shootings and as a result American property would be safer. They forecast a sharp clampdown on Communist activity throughout Central America.

Arbenz' resignation climaxed a day of mass defections from his cause by leading Cabinet ministers, army officers and others who fled to the Salvadorean Embassy in Guatemala City for refuge.

Throughout the day the capital was tense, its streets empty and its stores with their iron shutters closed as the populace stayed indoors and listened intently to their radios.

It reflects what you feel, what you like, what you are.

You will find it a car that fairly breathes success.

From its size and its breadth and the magnificent modernity of its styling, you know it is a car of custom stature — and so does the watching world.

The wondrous windshield is a pride in itself. You don't just see the view — you command it.

You will find it, too, a car of luxurious obedience.

From the moment you ease your foot down on the pedal, you take immediate mastery of the road and of distance.

And you know it — in the silken whip of Twin-Turbine Dynaflo, the might of Buick's greatest horsepower, the magic cushioning of coil springs on all four wheels, the exhilarating ease of Safety Power Steering at your hand.

But with all this, you buy with prudence when you buy a ROADMASTER.

Ferko-Cronenwett Vows Heard In Lutheran Church Saturday

Pink and white was the color theme used in the wedding of Miss Dolores Marie Ferko and Charles John Cronenwett who pledged vows in the ceremony witnessed by a large company of friends and relatives Saturday at 2:30 o'clock in the sanctuary of Holy Trinity Lutheran Church.

Mrs. Joseph Celin, classmate of the bride, was soloist, and the organist, Miss Ruth Hoch, was her accompanist as she sang, "Because" and "I Love You Truly." Later, at the close of the double ring service performed by Rev. G. D. Keister, church pastor, Mrs. Celin sang "The Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt for the blessing.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Ferko of N. Ellsworth Ave., and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Cronenwett of Youngstown.

Mr. Ferko escorted his daughter to the altar where cathedral tapers in twin candelabra lighted the chancel setting and all-white flowers filled the altar vases, contrasting with greenery and palms.

Imported Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over satin fashioned the bride's white gown complemented with a cascade bouquet of white roses showered with stephanotis. Beauty was added to the basque bodice of satin by an overlay pattern of lace. The neckline was in scoop-effect and the long sleeves were pointed at the wrists.

Satin, lace and tulle combined in the billowing waltz skirt gave a cloud-mist effect, and her double fingertip veil was held in place by a coronet of seed pearls and rhinestones.

Mrs. C. J. Cronenwett

All three attendants of the bride wore coral-colored swirl gowns of nylon tulle and white lace. The lace bodices were enhanced by nylon tulle halters and matching stoles.

Mrs. A. Edward Ferko of Salem, matron of honor for her sister-in-law, carried a straw basket of yellow roses and Shasta pompons banded her hair.

Straw baskets filled with yellow roses and pompons were carried by the two bridesmaids, Mrs. Richard McGraw of Youngstown, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Torch Nedelka of Salem. Both wore headbands of yellow pompons.

Ronald McLean was best man, Bernard Petrella and William Adler were ushers. All three men came from Youngstown.

Both mothers wore corsages of pink carnations with their costumes. Mrs. Ferko in white lace sheath dress over light blue taffeta and Mrs. Cronenwett in blue rayon lace. Each used white accessories.

After the nuptials, the wedding scene changed to the Elks home where the newlyweds greeted 175 relatives and friends from Pittsburgh, St. Mary's, Erie, Ind., Aliquippa, Pa., Youngstown, Warren, East Palestine, Salem and Clarion, N.C.

The four-tiered white cake was trimmed in pastel pink roses with white carnations and greenery arranged at the cake's base. White satin bows were attached to each candlestick and streamers of ribbon led to the cake. Three separate arrangements of pink and white pompons and snapdragons added to the decorative motif.

Following the congratulations of friends, the new Mrs. Cronenwett, dressed in an aqua rayon shantung summer suit, left with her husband for their honeymoon tour of New York State. They will return to make their home at 1513 Thalia Ave., Youngstown.

Mrs. Cronenwett was graduated from Salem High School and Ohio State University. She has taught in Salem High School and in LaJolla, Calif. Mr. Cronenwett is a graduate of Woodrow Wilson High School in Youngstown. He is employed by Ohio Bell Telephone Co., following service in World War II.

Evelyn Cosand, Kenneth Jones Wed At Damascus Saturday

The Damascus Friends Church was the scene of a wedding Saturday at 3:30 p.m. when Miss Evelyn Lorene Cosand, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence L. Cosand of Damascus, became the bride of Kenneth Ray Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer S. Jones of Earlham, Iowa.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the ceremony was solemnized by the bride's brother, Rev. Rendel L. Cosand of Grinnell, Iowa, assisted by Rev. Robert E. Mosher of Damascus and Rev. Amos N. Henry of Cleveland.

The altar setting combined palms, ferns, white gladioli and lilies in the light of tall tapers in seven-branch candelabra. Organist Albert Eker of Cleveland played the nuptial selections and was accompanied by Kenneth Phillips of Damascus who sang "The Lord's Prayer," "O Promise Me" and "At Dawning."

Costumed in white tulle over white taffeta faille, the bride's gown was complete with train. Chantilly lace bodice and long fitted sleeves, tapering to a point at the wrist, enhanced the yoke of net and the small collar. Her fingertip veil, edged with lace, was attached to a tiara of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white gladioli, pompons, fleur de amour and stephanotis.

Miss Theda Cosand was her sister's maid of honor in pink taffeta with tiered bouffant skirt, fitted bodice with white chantilly lace jacket and long sleeves. She carried a blue satin fan on which were fastened pink daisies and streamers of blue ribbon.

Marple-Moceri Nuptials Held; Couple Will Enter Ministry

Miss Donna Jean Marple and Donald R. Moceri, two graduates of Eastern Bible School at Green Lane, Pa., who expect to assume full time ministry in the evangelistic field, pledged their vows in a double ring service Saturday at 2 o'clock in the Assembly of God Tabernacle.

Rev. Clarence Hahn, church pastor, officiated at the wedding of the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carson M. Marple of Walnut St. and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Moceri of Niagara Falls, N.Y.

Palms, ferns, grape ivy, with arrangements of white carnations and gladioli, graced the altar where Mr. Marple gave his daughter in marriage.

Prior to the appearance of the bride party Miss Palma DeGregorio of Niagara Falls, a cousin of the bridegroom, sang "O Perfect Love," and "Together with Jesus." While the couple knelt during the service she sang "The Wedding Prayer." The organist, Mr. Harold Barnes, played a recital of nuptial music and was accompanist for the soloist.

As her wedding gift to the bride Mrs. George Adams of Salem made her gown fashioned of imported Chantilly-type lace and nylon net over Skinner acetate satin.

The drop-shoulder satin yoke was designed with a slit-V neckline. The fully-gathered skirt fell from a tiny scalloped hip yoke and flowed into a circular train. The bride's white Bible, covered with lace and satin, was centered with a white orchid, and Stephanotis and admantium was arranged in shower effect.

Miss Mary Goumas of Bath, O., was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss June Barnes of Berlin Center and Miss Ruth Kari of Spencer, O. They wore identically patterned gowns fashioned of lace and tulle over taffeta.

Mrs. Goumas, a college classmate, carried a cascade bouquet of yellow feathered carnations in a frame of yellow roses, with her pink gown. Miss Barnes and Miss Kari, another classmate in blue, had bouquets combining pink roses and pink feathered carnations.

A college classmate of the bridegroom, Philip Bongiorno of Erie, Pa., was best man. Ushers were Michael Marino of Youngstown, a college friend and Albert Finelli of Niagara Falls, cousin of the bridegroom.

Guests from Niagara Falls, New York, Detroit, Cleveland, Youngstown, Bath, Spencer, Maine, California and Canada were served from a four-tiered cake.

Following the festivities, the couple left for a week's honeymoon in the Pocono mountains near Stroudsburg, Pa. Mrs. Moceri wore a mint green suit with tan and white accessories and the orchid from her bridal flowers.

In 1951 the bride was graduated from Salem High School and her husband graduated from Niagara Falls High School the same year. Both were graduated in May from Eastern Bible Institute, a theological school of the Assemblies of God for training ministers, missionaries and Christian workers. # Indians Beat Yanks 4-3; Will Play Exhibition Game Tonight

Newhouser Limits New York To Four Hits In Relief Role

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — Last April, a 32-year-old pitcher joined the Cleveland Indians. Signing him to a contract was a gamble, for he had been plagued by a sore arm and his former team had cast him off last July.

Yesterday, for the third time this year, Prince Hal Newhouser demonstrated just how good a bet he had been. Hurling six innings in relief, he limited the New York Yankees to four hits and two runs for his third victory of 1954 against one defeat.

For Newhouser, released by the Detroit Tigers after his ailing arm had caused many baseball fans to consider him washed up in the majors, yesterday's 4-3 triumph in Cleveland Stadium was his 203rd big league victory.

Still in first place after a rough weekend series in which the Yankees won two of three games, the Indians play an exhibition contest here tonight against Pittsburgh's Pirates. Tomorrow, the Clevelanders open a two-game series against the Orioles in Baltimore.

Driving in the runs behind Newhouser's victory yesterday were home runs by Dave Philley and Wally Westlake and a single by Al Smith. Yogi Berra homered for the Yankees in the eighth.

The Yankees opened the scoring when Gil McDougald led off the first inning with a double, moved to third on a grounder by Joe Collins and scored on another by Mickey Mantle.

Philley tied it up for the Tribe in the fourth with his 10th homer of the season.

In the sixth and decisive inning, Al Rosen led off with a single and Westlake followed with his eighth home run of the year to put Cleveland ahead. The Indians scored the final run the same inning on a single by Smith after Philley singled, George Strickland sacrificed and Jim Hegan walked.

Hank Bauer added a run for the Yankees in the seventh when he walked and scored on Phil Rizzuto's double.

Whitey Ford, trying for his seventh victory against four losses, was chased from the game when the Indians staged their three-run rally in the sixth.

Bob Lemon started for Cleveland in quest of his 10th victory, but was relieved after he sprained his sacroiliac in the second inning as he swung at a ball. The injury wasn't believed to be serious, and Lemon expects to take his next regular turn on the mound. He will not accompany the team to Baltimore.

All the quarter-finalists in the seeded list with the first five "seeds" still in there swinging. Today is the time when fans will be looking for the upsets. So far form has run a true course.

Trabert tackles Mervyn Rose, Aussie left-hander, who shines at doubles, but is overshadowed by fellow countrymen Ken Rosewall and Lewis Hoad in the singles.

Second-seeded Hoad, 19-year-old Aussie star with a booming serve, takes on Czech-born veteran Jaroslav Drobný, who now lives in Egypt.

Defending champion Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, seeded fourth, had a hard battle against Belgium's Jackie Brichant before making the quarter-finals.

Seixas goes against Budge Patty of Los Angeles and Paris. Patty is in top form and is capable of upsetting the champion.

The final seeded match is between Rosewall and Rex Hartwig, another Australian.

In the women's singles, champion and top-seeded Maureen (Little Mo) Connolly, San Diego, Calif., meets Britain's 19-year-old Angela Buxton.

DEEP CONCENTRATION. — Maureen (Little Mo) Connolly, United States and Wimbledon tennis champion, is a study in concentration as she makes backhand return against fellow American Louise Brough in finals of Northern Club Lawn Tennis tournament at Manchester, England. Little Mo won the match and women's singles by defeating Miss Brough, 6-3, 6-2.

Dayton Man Wins Ohio Links Tourney

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The home town boy made good again as Jack Zimmerman wrapped up the Ohio Public Links golf championship yesterday for the second time.

The 26-year-old Wright-Patterson Air Base engineer, winner of the fee course crown in 1950 at Columbus, scored a neat 4 and 3 verdict over Tom Cloran, 3-year-old metallurgist of East Liverpool, to take the title again over Madden Park's tree-dotted course.

Zimmerman, beaten one-up in 19 holes in the 1949 quarter-finals at Akron by Cloran, took no chances this time. He birdied the first hole and got an easy three on the second to go two up, then birdied the fourth and sixth to stretch his edge to four at the turn, and hung on for an easy win.

Cloran, loser to Cleveland's Ralph Schneider in the 1949 finals, lost his touch on short approaches and around the greens failing to threaten at any time. He won only two holes, the third with a par four when Zimmerman's drive hooked into the trees, and the 11th when he canned a 10-foot curling downhill putt for a birdie.

Zimmerman, in addition to winning the state publiclinks twice, held the Ohio Intercollegiate title three years while a student at the University of Dayton in the '40s.

In yesterday's semi-final matches Cloran won five of the last six holes to defeat Tom Kenney of Dayton 2 and 1, while Zimmerman took the last three for a 4 and 2 win over Tom Ritter of Dayton.

Salem Poloists Defeated 22-5

Poland Team Outrides Locals; Crum Is Star

Running head-on into the toughest competition they've seen all year, the Salem Polo team went down to a humiliating 22-5 defeat at the hands of hard-riding Youngstown Poland yesterday at the local field.

The visitors scored with monotonous regularity throughout the contest. However, the over-all abilities and general field play were surprisingly far from being as one-sided as the score.

Poland, not particularly noted for its gentle play, outrode the locals and showed superior defensive strength, which, coupled with some tough breaks for Salem, was enough for the win.

Curly Crum paced the winners with six goals and Phil Thompson had four. Both of these men were substitutes.

For Salem, Roy Bates and Harrison Hartman each had two goals and Harry Fricke, one. Hartman played his first game for Salem, replacing veteran Jim Pidgeon, who resigned earlier this week.

Bates and Fricke stood out for the locals defensively with some sparkling field work.

Salem will play two games at Cleveland on the July 4 weekend and then will travel to Poland July 11. On Wednesday, July 14, Salem will play at Darlington; July 18 is still open and the next home game will be with Chagrin Valley here July 25.

Bob Pronger Takes Late Model Event

Untouted Bob Pronger, driving a 1954 Cadillac, surprised 5,225 fans at the Canfield Speedway Saturday night by outlasting all the "name" stars and easily coping the 100-lap Late Model Feature.

Pronger, a bespectacled 6-foot, 5-inch driver, took the lead on the 53rd lap and held it to the end. Herchel White, hard-driving Chicagoan, was second and Bob Cuthbert of Monroe was third, Jim Romine was fourth, Mike Klapak fell to 12th and Bucky Sager, the Memorial Day champion, finished 18th.

To take the feature, Pronger had to come up with some of the wildest driving speedway officials said ever took place at Canfield. Several of his opponents made deliberate attempts to box him in, but he still managed to get through with some neat maneuvering to take the lead.

Pronger drove all the way from St. Louis for Saturday's race.

143,782 See Series Between Indians, Yanks

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland Stadium recorded a three-day total of 143,782 persons who saw the New York Yankees play the Cleveland Indians. It was the largest week-end baseball attendance of the season in any ball park.

Largest crowd was Friday, when 49,808 fans watched the series opener, which the Yanks won 11-0. On Saturday, when the Yanks won again 11-9, 46,192 persons were on hand, and yesterday, a crowd of 47,728 saw the Indians win 4-3.

Cornbersburg Blasts Washingtonville 16-0

Ralph Sheetz, star Cornbersburg hurler, cooled off the Washingtonville Boosters with a one-hitter Sunday afternoon at Cornbersburg, pacing his team to a 16-0 win over the Boosters in Austintown Colt League play.

Only Jack Bruderly's first inning single kept Sheetz from a no-hitter. After Cornbersburg scored six times in the first inning, Washingtonville fell apart and was plagued by a total of six errors throughout the game, allowing several unearned runs.

Sheetz had four hits in five trips.

Hockey League Rejects Bid By Indianapolis

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — The International Hockey League, through its board of governors, yesterday rejected a bid for a franchise by Indianapolis.

The board's action—for which no reason was given—leaves eight teams in the nine-year-old league: Toledo, Milwaukee, Fort Wayne, Grand Rapids, Johnstown, Troy, Cincinnati and Marion, Louisville, which competed last year, has dropped out of the league.

Next season's schedule, which starts Oct. 22 calls for 28 home contests and 28 road games for each club, eight games less than last year.

Frank Gallagher of Detroit was reelected president and also secretary-treasurer to replace Fred A. Huber Jr., who resigned.

Junior Legion Team Drops Sixth Game

The Salem Junior Legion team dropped its sixth game in seven starts Sunday afternoon, a 9-4 decision to East Liverpool at Columbiana.

The Potters came up with six runs in the first two innings and coasted to the win.

Salem collected only three hits off Dave Rogers, the winning pitcher, who struck out six and walked five. Fred Ziegler, Salem hurler, struck out five and walked four.

After seven games, Dave Hanna is the team's leading batsman with a .375 mark. Lowell Hoffmaster is hitting .353.

Salem's next game will be with East Palestine at Centennial Park Wednesday evening.

Bob Kupka, Gordon Scott Win Golf Tournament

In two-man combined-total medal play at the Salem Golf Club, Bob Kupka and Gordon Scott were the weekend tournament winners with a card of 134 net.

W. F. Ferguson and Carl Ramsden were second with 137 and third place at 140 went to John Hochadel and Walter Dening.

The affair was one of a series of weekend tournaments pro Vince Leskosky has been running all season.

Boxing Highlights

NEW YORK (AP) — Cisco Andrade, a rising star in the lightweight division, takes an unbeaten string of 24 fights into tonight's 10-round match with Johnny Digilio of Bayonne, N.J., at New York's St. Nicholas Arena.

Only a draw with Freddie (Babe) Herman last Oct. mars the perfect record of Andrade, known as the Compton (Calif.) Comet. Digilio, another youngster with only 27 pro fights, whipped Herman in a prelim at Madison Square Garden March 19.

The match will be carried on television (Du Mont).

Walter Cartier, 30-year-old New York middleweight who defeated Bobby Dykes in his last start, boxes Tuzo Portugez, the rough man from Costa Rica, in the 10-round feature at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway.

The fight will be carried by ABC TV.

Portugez often forgets some of the finer points of the boxing rules in his bobbing, weaving style.

Holy Mims impressed many fight fans he would rate a strong chance with middleweight champion Bobo Olson the night he stopped George Johnson at Baltimore.

As a result of that fine showing, Mims is matched with Bobby Dykes of Miami on the Wednesday show (CBS-TV) from Washington. Mims is a 2-1 favorite.

Springfield Snaps Merchants' 9-Game Win Streak 13-10

Salem's League Lead Shaved; Score 7 Runs In First Inning

Pulling the upset of the season, sixth-place New Springfield, which has won only four other games all season, trimmed the Salem Merchants' league lead to two games and snapped the locals' nine-game winning streak by edging them yesterday 13-10 at North Lima.

It marked the first time Salem has gone down to defeat since the second week of the season. As East Liverpool dropped Kensington 7-1, the Potters climbed to within two games of the top.

In the only other action in the loop yesterday, New Waterford blasted East Palestine 18-14.

The Salem-Springfield game was an odd one, in that both teams scored seven runs in the first inning.

Roger Stille's double, Myron Stallsmith's homerun, two walks, an error, Carson McNeely's single and a triple by Chuck Marks produced the seven runs for Salem.

However, the Merchants were unable to hold its 7-0 bulge as Springfield came up with three hits, three bases on balls and two fielder's choices which resulted in seven runs to tie the score.

ALTHOUGH THE GAME started as a wild slug-fest, things quieted down somewhat until the fourth when the Merchants tallied three more times.

After Springfield countered once in the bottom of the fourth, a pair of round trippers, a walk and two more hits produced five runs.

5 Major League Teams Wage Battle For 1st Place By July 4

By JOE REICHLER
AP Sports Writer

Five teams are waging a bitter battle for first place by the Fourth of July — the date that tradition has marked as "Championship Day."

Since the turn of the century approximately seven out of every 10 major league leaders on July 4 have gone on to win the pennant.

With only a week to go, no team is assured of the top spot on the midseason holiday. The New York Giants lead Brooklyn by one game today but the National League pace-setters face a "crucial" three-game series with the Dodgers at the Polo Grounds starting tomorrow.

Cleveland sports a 1½-game advantage over Chicago in the American League but the White Sox can dislodge the Indians with a sweep of their four-game series in Cleveland next weekend. A letdown by each could pave the way for the New York Yankees to bypass both of them. While the Indians and White Sox are at each other's throats, the Yankees will engage the second-division, Washington Senators in a four-game set at Yankee Stadium.

The Indians widened their lead to a game and a half yesterday, salvaging the last of a three-game series from the Yankees 4-3 while Chicago was held to a split by Boston's Red Sox. Beaten 2-1 in the opener, the White Sox bounced back to trounce Boston 9-1 in the second game of their double-header. The loss widened the Yankees' deficit to three games.

New York's sizzling Giants maintained their one-game advantage over the Dodgers with an uphill 3-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs in 10 innings. Blanked by Warren Hacker with two hits through eight innings, the Giants tied the score at 2-2 when Whitely Lockman hit a two-run homer with two out in the ninth and won in the 10th when Willie Mays doubled, stole third and scored on pinch hitter Bobby Hofman's single off loser Hal Jeffcoat. It was the Giants 21st victory in 25 games.

How Asbestos Shingles Can Side Your House

CHICAGO (AP)—Asbestos siding shingles offer a durable exterior finish for good or old construction.

Doing a good job of applying them is simplified for the handyman by the manufacturers. They have devised several ways of applying this material over plywood, gypsum sheathing or insulating board. Special nails and application techniques have been devised in cooperation with the Asbestos Cement Products Assn.

One of the reasons asbestos siding is easy to put on is that it has ready-made nail holes. The shingles can be cut with heavy shears which can be rented for the job.

The beauty of shingle siding is enhanced by the uniform and deep shadow line created. Several devices are used to accomplish this.

A "horsefeather" nailing strip 3/8 inch thick by 3 5/8 inches wide is put on the heating at the lower edge of the asbestos shingle. The shingle is nailed over this. As the second row and each succeeding row is applied the "horsefeather" is placed underneath the bottom of the shingles. This exaggerates the shadow line.

When nailing shingles on fiber board, the same technique can be used by adding a shingle width of the fiber board before putting on the shingles. Ring nails are used.

These 2-inch galvanized ring nails have tiny ridges the length of the nail. When these are driven "home" into fiber board, it's almost impossible to pull them out.

One of the methods of applying asbestos cement shingles consists of using a hook nail. This "picture hook" nail is a tin-plated bronze device that looks like a letter "S" with the bottom of it unbent but angling downward. It prevents rust marks draining down the siding. It secures the top edge of the shingle and serves as a bottom anchor, doubling as a shadow line spacer as well.

Vitrified Co. Makes New Clay Pipe Joint

A new low cost, mechanical joint for vitrified clay pipe has been developed by American Vitrified Products Co., it was announced today by E. L. Miller, president.

The Anvit Joint, the name under which this new development will be marketed, is a push type joint based on the ball and socket principle. It consists of a plastic ring die cast electrically in the bell of the pipe having a concave exposed surface and a plastic ring die cast electrically on the spigot having an exposed convex surface. The diameter of the spigot ring is somewhat larger than the largest diameter of the bell ring. When the two are pushed together, the rings are in constant compression. The joint is thus root-proof and infiltration-proof.

How To Figure What You Can Afford In Payments On Home

Prices for new homes always seem high. They were considered high 15 years ago when they amounted to approximately half of what they are now. So they are commonly referred to as "inflated." Whether they ever will "deflate," seems so doubtful that you can't find an economist who will guarantee it.

Whether home prices are higher in proportion to incomes than they ever were in the past is something else again. In the past 15 years many wages and salaries have more than doubled. House prices have followed suit and houses are still selling fast. Automobile prices, for instance, have more than doubled, and plenty of automobiles are selling.

Then why isn't it easy to buy a new house? The reason, according to one home mortgage expert, is:

"It takes money." That is the title of a booklet of advice to prospective home buyers published by Eugene M. Mortlock, vice president of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association in New York.

"ONE OF THE FIRST things you've got to decide," says Mr. Mortlock, "is how much you can afford to pay for a home."

"Most budget plans consider one week's salary as a normal rent figure, but it is advisable to keep your monthly carrying charges on a house down to 20 per cent of your income."

For income, this mortgage adviser uses only take-home pay. "Let's assume," he says, "your take-home pay is $75 per week. How large a mortgage will that cover?"

"Subtract from your weekly take-home pay of . . . $75.00 an estimated charge for taxes of . . . $15.00 and an estimated charge for fire insurance of . . . $1.50 leaving a balance of . . . $58.50 to be applied to your monthly mortgage payment."

"Your banker can then consult his table for a monthly payment factor, which for 20 years at 5 per cent, for instance is $6.60 per thousand. Divide this into $58.50 and you discover that you can support a maximum load of $9,000."

"If your ambitions cost more than your present salary, you either need a bigger job or a smaller house."

"OF COURSE," the more you can put up from your savings as a down payment, the less you have to borrow, the less your monthly payment will be, and the more you'll have available for furnishing this home. Thus the strain on the family budget is lightened.

"If you still think your income can be stretched around a larger house, start making a list of what you think it will cost to own and operate it. If this doesn't break your bubble, maybe you've overlooked some of the following items which you cannot escape: gas and electricity, heat; and also maintenance and repairs which, each year, will average 1 to 1 1/2 per cent of the purchase price."

Mortlock is convinced that the two best policies in home buying are as large a down payment as possible and a mortgage paid off with your home free and clear as early as possible.

"Housing expense," he says, "is a double-edged problem; monthly maintenance and down payments; which function in inverse ratio. The more you put up at the start, the less it costs you month by month, and vice versa."

Quizzing The Gardener

Q — I want to plant a few small trees that have structural beauty and colorful bark in the winter. What do you suggest?

A — The saucer-cup magnolia, Magnolia soulangeana, qualifies for this purpose. Then you should consider the paper-bark maple, Acer griseum, with its papery red-brown bark, and the native striped maple, Acer pennsylvanicum, noted for its bark striped with longitudinal white lines. The hardest of the Stewartias, Stewartia pseudocamellia, has striking red bark that peels off in large flakes.

Q — What are the cultural requirements of Japanese iris?

A — Japanese iris will thrive and bloom in the flower border if the soil is acid, heavily enriched with humus and old manure, and given an abundance of water, particularly during the blooming season.

Q — The bloom on our daffodils was rather sparse this spring —

Add Insulation To Be Cooler This Summer

By MR. FIX
Distributed by NEA Service

If facing the prospect of sweating through another summer in a poorly insulated house, you should need little encouragement toward doing something about it. There is something you can do, you know, and it isn't a costly project.

You can reinsulate with a loose-fill insulation such as widely used vermiculite, and rest assured that the coming summer will be a more pleasant one for you indoors.

There are three reasons why your original insulation job may not be giving you the good performance it did when it was first installed. They are settling of insulation, moisture damage to insulation and heat leaks. In many cases the addition of loose-fill corrects or at least improves the situation.

If you noted last winter that fuel bills were uncommonly high, or that room comfort had fallen off, then it is time to visit your attic for a look at the insulation. Here's what to do:

1. Poke a ruler into the insulating material between attic floor joists. If less than its original thickness, it is not doing a top-notch job of heat control.

2. Check the ceiling beneath the insulation for wet spots. Remove damp or water-logged insulation in the area of wet spots. As you know from using a wet pot holder on a hot pan, moisture conducts heat. Damp insulation won't retard the passage of heat either.

3. Look into corners and around wiring to see if insulation fills all spaces. Any exposed surfaces will leak heat.

Vermiculite is particularly well-suited to reinsulate jobs in unused attics. It is a mineral material that looks and flows like popcorn. Being a mineral it will not rot, is fireproof and resists settling. You can pour vermiculite right on top of other insulating materials. Here's how to reinsulate:

First, make sure you have removed any deteriorated insulation. Take care of any necessary attic repairs before insulating. Be sure to block off holes, especially around conduits, pipes and fixtures.

Four vermiculite over the existing material. Pour right out of the bag, which is easy to handle (four cubic-foot bags weigh only 23 lbs.). Level the material carefully with a cardboard rake obtainable from your dealer.

Fill all spaces between joists and old insulation. No tamping is necessary, and is, in fact, undesirable. Sidewall insulation may need a checkup as well. Where sidewall spaces are accessible at the top, pour loose fill into them to bring the insulation level with the wall's top.

Because sidewall construction varies from house to house, it is better to get a professional's advice before undertaking the job. The most important area to reinsulate is in the attic floor. A high percentage of the heat loss in winter occurs there if the attic is not insulated.

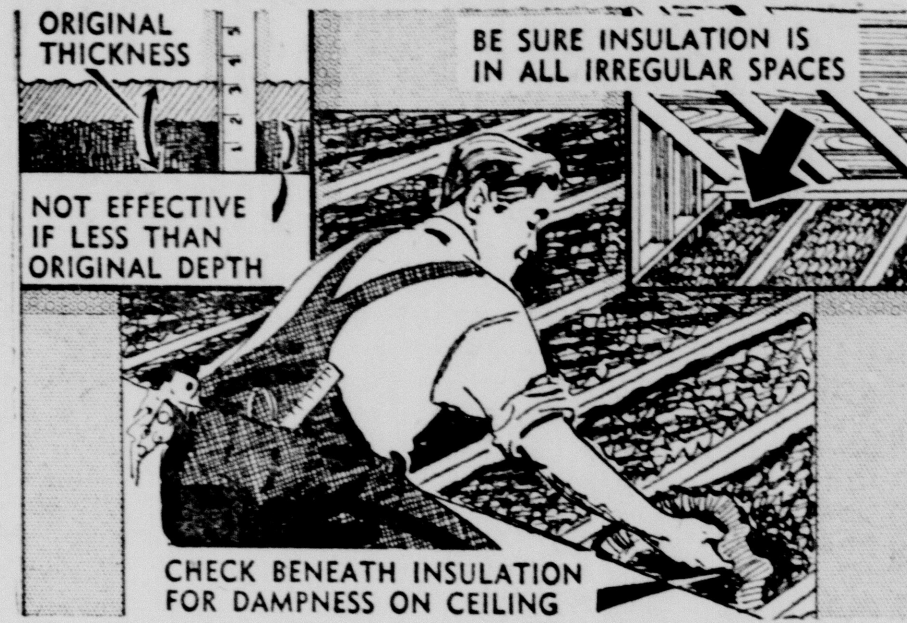

much green foliage but few flowers. What was wrong?

A — Probably the most common cause is not planting in good soil and/or not a well-drained, sunny location.

Q — Our back yard, adjacent to a wood lot, is infested with poisonous vines. What is the best method of eradication?

A — A combination of spraying the foliage with the weed killer 2, 4, 5-T and hand-pulling of the numerous roots which are rather close to the surface. 2, 4, 5-T must be sprayed only on the ivy, as it will kill or damage most vegetation it touches. Handpulling is made easier by first loosening the soil. Both chores should be done by one immune to the poison.

IF YOU HOPE to be comfortable indoors this summer, now's the time to head for the attic to check your insulation.

Air-Condition To Save Money

Home air-conditioning offers not only year-round comfort, but advantages which tend to offset much of the operating cost of the equipment.

Humidity control eliminates extreme moisture which is responsible for peeling paint and sagging wallpaper, creaking chairs and bureau drawers that refuse to open. Less redecorating is required because paint and wallpaper stay clean longer.

Closets and basement become safe for storage use with danger of mildew and dampness virtually removed. Packaged foods stored in cabinets or on pantry shelves remain fresh longer.

Air conditioning heats the home and adds moisture to dry air in cold weather. It cools the house and removes moisture from the air in hot weather. It filters dust, soot, dirt, and pollen from the air. It circulates this clean air throughout the house, using some outside air constantly to freshen the inside air.

Air - conditioning "emancipates" the homemaker to a great extent from dusting, cleaning and sweeping. Plants grow better, smoke clears away immediately and the piano won't need as frequent tuning.

A typical home air-conditioning system consists of a compact re-

Tips Given For Weekend Gardeners
By HENRY FREE
Hints for the Week-End Gardener: By now much of the vegetable garden is sown to seed and the tomato plants set out on the lee side of a stout stake. And by now perhaps Brer Rabbit has appeared and what to do is a yearly problem.

The real answer is to surround the garden with a 1 1/2 inch wire mesh fence, three feet high with six to eight inches buried in the ground. A bale of poultry wire has 150 linear feet which will surround a 50 by 25-foot garden.

No assurance can be given that spray or dust repellents will give satisfactory rabbit control for more than a few days. If you want to try your luck consider two tablespoons of powdered alum mixed well with four cups wheat flour and applied to the plants as a dust, or spray the plants with aluminum sulfate — four tea-spoons to a gallon of water.

The frequent rains of early spring, while beneficial in many ways, did cause an excessive leaching of the fertilizer applied last autumn and this spring. Thus additional applications are in order.

The secret of a good lawn, according to the old gardener, is to feed regularly in June. July and August — and do not remove the grass clippings unless they are very long and heavy. The mulch so added and the fertility returned is responsible for more than half of the effectiveness of the feeding program. Use an organic fertilizer — if available — apply on dry grass and then rake in thoroughly before watering.

By now the flower border should be well established — but maximum results cannot be achieved without maintaining the fertility of the soil, using a fertilizer rich in phosphorus — and watering when conditions demand watering. A mulch of peatmoss, ground corn cobs or similar organic matter will conserve moisture and keep weeds at a minimum.

Watch out for these two pests—the iris borer and the rose slug. The iris borer is a large grub-like worm, cream to pinkish in color, tunneling through the fleshy root (rhizome) of iris, resulting in their eventual death, unless controlled. Sanitation methods should be followed to get rid of the eggs laid on the old tops — which should have been gathered and burned last autumn. To control, use either a 5 per cent DDT dust or a spray made of three level tablespoons of 50 per cent DDT wettable powder in a gallon of water. Dust or spray plants and ground thoroughly in early spring, just as growth starts and repeating twice at 10-day intervals.

Two Die As Navy Beechcraft, American Airlines Plane Collide

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A Navy Beechcraft exploded "like a ball of fire" and an American Airlines passenger ship skidded in to land on its nose last night after the two planes collided on approaching Port Columbus Airport.

Two Naval Reserve officers died in the crash.

John G. Rankin, 54, of Louisville, one of 31 passengers on the American Airlines Convair, suffered friction burns sliding down a rope from the plane after it crashed. He said a woman passenger stalled in front of him, afraid of the 25-foot slide down a rope.

"Lady," he told her, "we've got to go."

He said he grabbed her with his right arm and slid down the rope by his left hand. He suffered severe hand burns.

Eyewitnesses on the ground said the Navy plane exploded in a "ball of fire," spattering burning debris in the dusk, then crashed just east of the Port Columbus Airport.

The dead were identified as Lt. Cmdr. John R. Hoerath, 35, of nearby Westerville and Lt. Cmdr. Donald G. Edgar, 48, of Columbus.

Capt. J. C. Pollard, 32, of Nashville, pilot of the American Airlines passenger Convair, brought his ship safely to earth.

Its wings were flaming from gasoline spilled in the crash and the left engine was torn loose.

Crippled and burning, the Convair skidded across the Port Columbus runway on its nose.

Trapped inside by a damaged exit door up front near the nose, the passengers and three crew members escaped down a coarse rope 25 feet to safety.

The safety door was forced open by slim, auburn-haired stewardess Martha Jane Gunn, 24, of Nashville, Tenn.

A baby was dropped into the arms of its parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Herrman of Columbus, when they were unable to take the child with them down the rope. Investigators from the Civil Aeronautics Board were expected to arrive today from Washington and Chicago to study the crash.

The planes collided as both neared Port Columbus for landings.

The Civil Aeronautics Authority here said a preliminary report indicated both planes had been given "an okay for an approach but only the American Airlines plane had been given an okay for a landing."

The passenger plane was bound from Memphis to Cleveland, Ohio. The Navy plane was returning to Columbus from Lafayette, Ind.

One eyewitness, pilot John H. Corrier, 35, of Columbus, said the Navy plane pulled up apparently on tower orders to make a different approach and crashed into the front under-section of the huge passenger ship.

American Airlines issued this list of Ohio passengers bound for Akron who transferred to another plane after the Convair crashlanded:

Jack Brigham, Mariemont;
Frank Greene, Barberton;
C. L. Werner, 915 Shadyside Dr., Canton;
Ann Koughrey, Canton;
F. C. Simpson, Cincinnati;
H. Gartelman, Cincinnati.

SEEK CLEVELAND FIREBUG

CLEVELAND (AP)—Arson squad investigators said a series of small fires on Cleveland's west side might be the work of a firebug. Firemen said the latest of five blazes was caused yesterday by a pile of rags and a stepladder set on fire against the back of a house. Burning through several boards and causing an estimated $50 damage. The owner, Kenneth Weiss, said two other fires had been started at the rear of the house about a month ago. Small blazes were also found against two garages. Firemen said they saw no connection between the fires and a group of 13 blazes on the east side which also are believed to be the work of an arsonist.

HOSPITAL IS DEDICATED

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)—A new, million-dollar Scioto County Receiving Hospital which has been under construction two years was dedicated here yesterday at ceremonies attended by Gov. Frank J. Lausche and other state officials.

Ministers Repaint Homes Smeared By Vandals

CLEVELAND (AP)—Three Baptist ministers climbed ladders yesterday and painted over smears left by vandals on the east side homes of two Negro families.

The ministers, Dr. Angus C. Hull Jr. and the Rev. Mr. John J. Wilkes of the Euclid Avenue Baptist Church and the Rev. Mr. R. Dean Short of Fidelity Baptist Church, applied a coat of aluminum paint. They said they would also replace windows smashed by the vandals, who attacked each house a day before the new owners were to move in. One house was splashed with paint last June 18 and the other, several weeks before.

"We have plenty of paint," the Rev. Mr. Wilkes said. "If they do it again we'll be back to paint it over again."

Unbaked doughs and bread, as a rule, should not be stored in a food freezer for more than six to eight weeks.
